

Journal of the Life, Travels, and Gospel Labours of That Faithful Servant and Minister of Christ, Job Scott, 1797 (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Journal of the Life, Travels, and Gospel Labours of That Faithful Servant and Minister of Christ, Job Scott, 1797 Being thus humbled under various turnings of the Lords hand upon him, and clearly convinced of the power and efficacy of the distinguishing principle of our holy profession, viz. the light of Christ within man, as Gods gift for his salvation; he requested the care, and became a member, of the monthly meeting of Smithfield, then extending to Providence; and being of strong and ready abilities, and his mind improved and enlarged by the sanctifying power of Truth, he was enabled and zealously and very usefully disposed for the promotion of the cause of righteousness in which he was engaged. Having in the school of Christ measurably learned the mystery of the fall and restoration of man, and to understand the scriptures and pertinently to apply them, he was brought under the preparing hand of the Lord for the work of the ministry, under which dispensation his soul was deeply baptized and brought under great sympathy with seeking souls, who were travailing in birth that Christ might be formed in them, to whom he was at times and seasons enabled powerfully to administer encouragement and consolation.
